Culture

Mainstream

Defines

Answers

Influences

Google

subjective concepts

tangible objects

TANGIBLE OBJECT

our current mainstream culture. one of hyper-organization, quickness, immediate gratification, one of immediate answers. Google can answer most questions, as well as define subjective concepts with grids of images, revealing popular perception of them. such image searches for "beauty" or "sad" are telling of society.

Results

maps

taxi

video

local

lunch

houseplants

triangle gif

dolphin attack

people=people

we must learn to become more accepting of people, for search engine culture to further the human race, not send us back.

we don't have prejudices against different shapes. yet we do against more complex forms, humans.

Judgement

the ideal future.

want to talk about it? i sure do.

Google: Travis Poffenberger
travispoffenberger@gmail.com

Pre-Judgement

although Google has made information gathering easier, as well as pretty much everything else, the searches are still affected by people's prejudices. these prejudices are based on judgement, judgement is based on classification. hyper classification can lead to more judgement. drawing pre-mature conclusions about certain ethnicities, groups or ideas via Google is fast, and easy. = PROBLEM

society

influence

Google

why do white people
why do white people turn red
why do white people tan
why do white people want to be bla why do white people stink so much

why do women
why do women cheat
why do women wear thongs
why do women wear high heels women wear bras

why do gay people high voices why do gay people have aids why do gay people have an accent why do gay people have lisps

why do poor kids do worse in school why do poor kids not go to college why do poor kids hate rich kids why do poor kids have big bellies

why do africans have red eyes why do africans have aids
why do africans stink

transparent blogs

Microsoft Paint

ironic lo-fi

inates examples

memes
cats
.PNG
.GIF

random symbols

weird YouTube comments

wingdings

comic sans

(INTERNET+AESTHETIC) = intaes

intaes is the "internet aesthetic" a modern phenomenon, subculture, that is a response to Google. intaes includes art and design that involves dolphins, houseplants, gradients and browswer windows. intaes is the subcultural response to the purpose of google. it is colorful, sometimes arbitrary, lo-fi and is meant to leave one confused. it is anti Google.

warped text

random "aesthetic"

logo-mash-ups

da-da confusing surreal decon-struct-ionist

RAD!! go check out www.intaes.info 4 much more www.intaes.info go check out 4 much more wtf cat videos "that makes no sense" huh?? lolz imagine the internet as a vast jungle.